

Raz-Lee Security Joins iManifest Pioneers to Promote IBM i

Herzliya, Israel – September 30, 2009 - Raz-Lee Security, a leading supplier of information security solutions for IBM i, has joined iManifest, the international initiative promoting the inherent business and technological values of the IBM Power i.

Raz-Lee Security was one of the first companies to join iManifest, sponsoring both the iManifest US and iManifest EMEA initiatives. Raz-Lee's Japanese business partner, Sanwa Comtec, was one of the leaders of the original iManifest initiative in Japan.

Raz-Lee strongly believes that the worldwide community of IBM's Independent Software Vendors (ISVs) needs to speak out in a coordinated public relations offensive to ensure that the best business server ever designed – now called the Power i – be allocated the marketing budget and attention it deserves from IBM management.

"Raz-Lee is committed to actively participating in iManifest ventures," said Shmuel Zailer, CEO, Raz-Lee Security. "Based upon our nearly 30 years of i experience, we plan to actively contribute to re-invigorating the platform to the benefit of the worldwide IT community."

"IBM needs to paint a ... compelling future for the IBM i in bright, vivid colors and get the word out via traditional channels and by cultivating its to-die-for loyal user base and partner ecosystem. It can be done," said Martin Fincham, leader of the iManifest EMEA initiative. "Dispel the myths, tell great stories and commit to a compelling future that others can trust and buy into."
